MISSOURI DEPARTMENT OF ELEMENTARY AND SECONDARY EDUCATION

MISSOURI'S NEW COMMUNITY EDUCATION TRAINING CENTER PRESENTS

Learning About Community Education

Dr. Larry Decker will be our guest speaker for these workshops. Dr. Decker is the current C.S. Mott Professor. This position was the first eminent scholar chair established at Florida Atlantic University and the first Community Education chair in the United States. Dr. Decker is one of the country's foremost advocates for the use of public schools as community centers. He encourages schools to engage in a variety of cooperative initiatives and partnerships among parents, businesses, civic organizations, government and social service agencies that enhance the ability to educate all children. He has written numerous books and articles related to linking schools with families and communities.

Community Education affects everyone in your community. Come listen and learn from the leading expert in the field today.

Dr. Decker will be addressing the following topics:

- What is Community Education?
- How Can Community Education Help Meet the Needs of My Community?
- How Can Community Education Help My Community Save Dollars & Combine Resources?
- Starting a Community Education Program

In addition, two current models of Community Education programming will be presented. Plan now to bring a team from your community to learn all the aspects of Community Education.

Your team members could be:

- Community leaders
- School superintendents, principals, Community Education directors
- Social service agencies or civic organizations
